Apogee provide a secure 24/7 business continuity facility to deliver off-site document support to office and print room staff.

We're passionate about business continuity. Our disaster recovery centre ensures your core business print activities always remain operational and enables your staff to invoke our facility at short notice, in times of need.

Our suite is on standby, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, to provide a full service solution from digital access, through to entire print facilities. We provide secure, off-site lock-down support for all office and print room staff with a print infrastructure that mirrors a typical print room setup.

The disaster recovery facility is a perfect solution for 'black days' – to simulate print room set ups and provide an isolated area where business continuity teams can visit and complete restrictive projects.

It is contained within a gated, secure complex with substantial parking and accessed by entry control cards, while under constant 24 hour CCTV surveillance. It also has segregated toilet and kitchen facilities. There are two diesel backup generators onsite – even if London has a power outage then the disaster recovery facility is still operational.

Organisations can access their data via a Citrix connection, allowing data to be accessed easily and to avoid the headache of having to transport large volumes of data. A wide range of printing, scanning and copying can be undertaken so that if a print room does shut down for any reason, then business can continue as normal.

Apogee's disaster recovery facility can be used as a fully orchestrated print facility – an extension of your own print room – with out of hour's access and a tried and tested space for all your disaster recovery requirements.
